

Project Manager (m/f)

Our employees make us what we are today: a successful biotechnology company that is continuously helping to bring ideas to life.

VPM's employees are passionate about innovative pharma development. An extreme amount of heart and soul, enthusiasm and competitive spirit has gone into our company. With about 10 employees at our site in Hanover, we are one of the leading biopharmaceutical companies in the field of Tuberculosis (TB) vaccines in the World. At VPM, ideas lead to treatments. We consider ourselves a "center of excellence" for early stage development and translational project management. We are not only developing our own products but we are also helping other companies to move their candidates into life saving products.

Are you the top of class? Do you want to change the world? Well then, we offer you the chance to make a difference with your expert knowledge and enthusiasm in an ambitious company. Join VPM and jointly shape tomorrow's therapeutic world. Because the future is now!

Job Profile:

- Plan and facilitate clinical development of innovative medicines from bench to clinical proof-of-concept
- Identification of and communication with business partners within a designated project and its budget
- Planning and management of
 - Process development and manufacture of medicinal products
 - Pre-clinical studies
 - Early clinical trial development
 - Budget planning
- Review and evaluation of project proposals

Requirements:

- Completed doctoral studies in natural sciences, medicine or pharmacy
- 2 year experience with pharmaceutical research and development
- Excellent self-organization skills
- Ability to comprehend and oversee complex projects and prioritize required actions
- Enjoy working in cross-functional teams
- Show versatility and willingness to travel frequently for national and international business trips
- Excellent written and spoken English language skills
- Good working knowledge of common software packages

Contact details

Vakzine Projekt Management GmbH
Dr. med. Bernd Eisele, CEO
Mellendorfer Str. 9
30625 Hannover
+49 (511) 1699080
info@vakzine-manager.de